

Lyndel Cox Cotton

Lyndel Cotton died at her home on December 23, 2011.

She is survived by her husband, Roy Cotton, a son Rev. Brent Barry, a daughter-in-law, Susan Cox, and two grandchildren, Hannah and Ian Barry. She also leaves behind a sister, Ronda Morris and her husband Joe of Troup, Texas, and four nephews: Blaine, Ragan, Austin and Derek.

She is preceded in death by her first husband, Michael Barry, and her mother and father, Rosemary and Glenn Cox.

Lyndel was born on April 9, 1941, in Amarillo, Texas. She graduated from Amarillo High School in 1959. After high school, Lyndel headed to West Texas State College (West Texas A&M) in Canyon, Texas, where in 1963 she graduated, majoring in English, Education and Music. Lyndel enjoyed her time at college and participated in the marching band where she was the featured majorette.

Lyndel held many jobs throughout her 70 years. Her favorite job was event planner for Nortel Networks and later Helms Briscoe. Lyndel's sharp sense of humor and caring spirit will be missed by her family. Her family gives thanks that in life she belongs to God and in death she belongs to God.

Memorial Services for Lyndel will be held at Northpark Presbyterian Church, 9555 N. Central Expressway, Dallas, TX 75231, on January 6, 2012, at 2:00 pm. In lieu of flowers, a donation may be made to NorthPark Presbyterian Church All Saints Fund, 9555 N. Central Expressway, Dallas, TX 75231.
